(GWCC) – The Guam Women’s Chamber of Commerce is hosting the 2014 Women’s Leadership Retreat, which began yesterday and continues today at the LeoPalace Resort.

Intended to inspire, empower and motivate women to seek their highest level of personal and professional development, the two-day conference will feature speakers and breakout sessions to provide participants with information, perspective and strategies of development to support them in their endeavors.

Keynote speaker at this event is Crystal Moradi, senior vice president of PLJ Income of Los Angeles, California.

Moradi is a personal money trainer, retirement income strategist, radio personality, and author of “Your Personal Money Diary.”

The retreat will feature local women personalities and the opportunity to network and share experiences with other successful women.
